Thank you for making an impact at York University!

Every York student has a unique story of impact, with each representing a distinct chapter in York's overall story so far. And it is because of donors like you that they are encouraged to discover their potential and write these ambitious and enduring stories themselves.

No matter your level of giving, your support has transformed the student experience at York University. You have helped fund financial aid that allows students to pursue their academic passions without worry. You have helped build programs and experiential opportunities that put our students at the forefront of the future. And with Impact: The Campaign for York University underway, you are mobilizing new ways of thinking, building stronger communities and preparing the engaged global citizens of tomorrow.

This tremendous impact started with you, but it is just the beginning! Let's write the next chapter in York University's story – together.

The photos featured in this email were collected as part of the #YorkUImpact Project, an initiative to gather statements of impact from our students, faculty, staff and alumni. Visit impact.yorku.ca/yorkuimpact-is to discover more statements of impact.
